Nara Saho College

Welcome to Nara

Nara Saho College was founded in 1931 by the alumni association of Nara Women's Higher Normal School, predecessor of Nara Women's University, that was one of the leading academies of women's education at that time.

The objectives that the College upholds as a spirit of its founding are "to foster well-educated, knowledgeable women and to develop human resources that can contribute to society."

At present, as a junior college following its tradition of coeducation, the College upholds three pillars of its educational philosophy: every student is expected to: (i) make judgment flexibly and take action with its own intention, (ii) rely on the existence of oneself as a valuable asset, understand and accept the way of thinking and behavior of other persons, and (iii) acquire the ability to take action to get evolved in various phenomenon. In addition, the educational goal of the College is to develop human resources that have acquired professional knowledge and skills; can take a broad view of everything; are well-educated; and can contribute to society.

The College is located in Nara, an educational and cultural city that is rich in the historical and cultural heritage of the site of Japan's ancient capital, and natural environment. The College is committed to developing students who will make valuable contributions to society.

奈良へようこそ

奈良佐保短期大学は、1931年、当時の女子教育の最高峰であった奈良女子高等師範学校（現奈良女子大学）の同窓会によって設立されました。「教養識見ある女性を養成し、社会に貢献できる人材を育成すること」を建学の精神として掲げました。現在は男女共学の伝統ある短期大学として、「臨機応変に判断し、自らの意思で行動すること」「自分自身の存在を価値あるものとして信賴すること」にも、他者の思いや行動を理解し、受け入れること」「さまざまな事象に自らかわっていきける行動力をもつこと」の3つを教育理念とし、専門的な知識・技術を身につけ、社会に貢献できる幅広い視野と教養を備えた人材を養成することを教育目標にしています。

大学は古都奈良の歴史文化遺産にあふれる自然環境豊かな教育文化都市にあり、社会で活躍できる優秀な人材を輩出しています。

An opportunity of learning in Nara

Nara is the site of the first permanent capital of Japan. Nara still retains much of the past, with its old architectures and Buddhist images, as well as the Kasuga natural forests that remain intact for more than thousand years. Many tourists at home and abroad come to visit Nara. Nara Saho College can be reached by fifteen minutes bus ride from Kintetsu or JR Nara station. Seen along the bus route through bus windows are the Todai-ji Temple, the Kofuku-ji Temple, a herd of deer in the Nara Park, the Kasuga Taisha Shrine, and much more. The College is located at the most suitable place for study and everyday life in the vicinity of the Nara Prefectural Office building, banks, hospitals, supermarkets, and public libraries. Nearby are Kyoto and Osaka. Nara can be reached by train in approximately three hours from Tokyo.
